

I am a professional driver.. Instant weather and traffic allows me to plan my route ahead of time... Broadcast radio is real time but is more geared to people with an understanding of the local area..... Often using local landmarks or nicknames not common knowledge to those not from the area.... By the time I could pick up broadcast weather and traffic, it is often to late to alter my route